WHAT'S HAPPENING WITH THE BLOOMINGDALE PARK PRESERVATION?

by Dick Buegler

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

WE HAVE BEEN WAITING FOR MANY YEARS for a resolution of the Bloomingdale Park proposal. Well, what is really happening now with the proposed recreational field construction in Bloomingdale Park? In early July, you read a magnificent article in the S. I. Advance about Ex-Parks Commissioner Henry Stern's total rejection of the proposed recreational fields in the eastern portion of Bloomingdale Park. We thank him wholeheartedly for that. We're enclosing a reprint of that Advance article in this issue of the bulletin with a suggestion that you each make a dozen copies of it and distribute it to friends, no matter what the final resolution of the problem may be.

Then a few days later, it was announced that the city as given the go-ahead for constructing the ball fields by the NY State Appellate Court in Brooklyn (another loss for Protectors' legal action).

Then near the end of August, a S. I. Advance editorial claimed final defeat for Protectors but also stated "Mayor Bloomberg finally gets to make that decision." That was one of the few things probably right in that editorial.

Exactly one week after that editorial, Borough President James Molinaro reentered the discussion with a S. I. Advance op-ed article stating, "Now the recreation project can move forward, with the city's approval."

Many of you received my 8/21/02 e-mail requesting that you e-mail Mayor Bloomberg requesting that he abandon any plans for developing the recreational fields in Bloomingdale Park and find suitable sites elsewhere.

One member then E-mailed the Mayor immediately, that night, and early the next day surprisingly received the Mayor's response, signed "Mike," informing our member that the major push for the fields' development was our own Borough President (unnamed). He then added that his own Parks Commissioner (Unnamed) was opposed to it. It was a very brief note, but so reassuring to Protectors that Mayor

WHAT'S HAPPENING WITH THE BLOOMINGDALE PARK PRESERVATION?

Bloomberg actually acknowledged his own Parks Commissioner's position in opposition to ball fields in Bloomingdale Park. Even at this late date you may wish to E-mail or phone your concerns to Mayor Bloomberg (see below).

In the past, since Mayor Giuliani well knew Henry Stern's position, he summarily removed the Parks Department from any further involvement in the BLOOMINGDALE Park ballfields project. He then turned it over to the ready and willing Department of Design and Construction which began the lengthy and expensive Environmental Impact Statement process which is required for such a sloped, wet site. Protectors had no role in demanding this process. It was a foregone, legally required process initiated the moment Borough President Molinari announced his "gift" to the public, eight playing fields in Bloomingdale Park. I've always wondered if the Borough President had craftily selected that site, knowing that it would be years before design and construction funds would have to be paid out, if ever.

What is Mayor Bloomberg to do with this confusing record of environmentalists rejection of the proposal, then legal action to stop the proposal by Protectors of Pine Oak Woods and politicians clamoring for fields to be built, and Protectors of Pine Oak Woods still defending the integrity of all of the woodlands in Bloomingdale Park? Especially after he, Mayor Bloomberg, publicly stated that the Staten Island Borough President was pushing the plan while the Mayor's own Parks Commissioner was opposed to the project.

So what does a reasonable, sensible and environmentally aware Mayor do when bombarded with a variety of solutions by various pressure groups, city agencies and public officials.

Does he listen to past Parks Commissioner Henry Stern who clearly and knowledgeably expects physical and hydrologic failure of the Bloomingdale project if it is attempted? (We are confident that Mayor Bloomberg read that entire article on Stern and Bloomingdale Park.) Stern spoke eloquently in opposition to the recreational fields to the S. I. Advance editorial board. Stern stated, "The project would be the most foolish thing ever done by the city in my 15 years in the Parks department." How is that for a recommendation? Wouldn't you think an astute Mayor Bloomberg would try to find every possible reason not to go ahead with such a boondoggle?

How carefully does Mayor Bloomberg listen to his current Parks Commissioner, Adrian Benepe, who admittedly has told the Mayor, that he does not favor using Bloomingdale Park for recreational fields and that better sites could be found?

How carefully does Mayor Bloomberg listen to Protectors of Pine Oak Woods, a highly respected environmental and land conservation organization with a track record of having been involved in preserving thousands of acres of park land over the last 3 decades? The Mayor knows we are several thousand concerned environmental citizens. He can also guess that we have spent tens of thousands of dollars in consultant and legal fees to thwart the Molinaro/Molinari attempt to rid Staten Island of some more of those pesky woods and trees and nature-permeated natural areas.

How much would Mayor Bloomberg listen to a Borough President who has frequently and publicly maligned Protectors as a group of "Obstructionists" and "Not Good People" and "Opposed to everything." (News flash!) BP Molinaro, in an article about a Federal probe in the S. I. Advance 8/31/02 is quoted, "I'm not in a position to pass judgment on people." Is that a retraction of his comments about Protectors? We doubt it. But he has cruelly and falsely judged Protectors many times in the past.

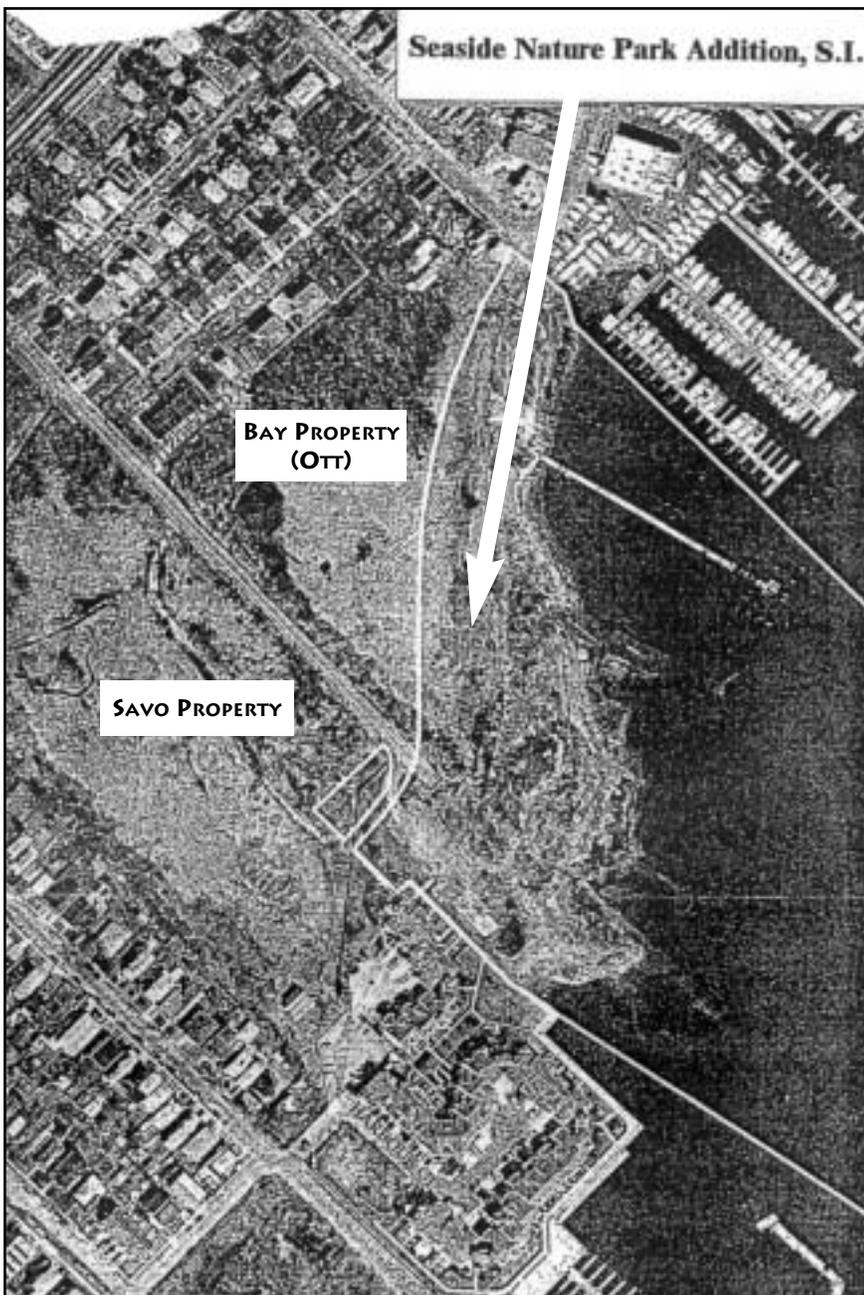

Never has this Borough President, or his immediate predecessor mentioned or much less publicly thanked us for our crucial role, over the last 30 years, in the creation and preservation of Clay Pit Ponds State Park Preserve, the Staten Island

FUTURE OF GREAT KILLS HARBOR.... A REAL CLIFF HANGER!

AS YOU READ THIS, the battle for Great Kills Harbor will be almost over. If the September 26th public forum at IS 24 has not pressured the developers to negotiate a purchase by The Trust for Public Lands on behalf of the NY-NJ Port Authority, the only thing left will be your continued demand that this most horrible environmentally destructive plan be prevented.

If developers/land speculators Bruno Savo and Bay Properties continue to insist on building 200+ houses, Staten Island loses. These planned 200+ houses, at elevations lower than 10 feet above sea level, on 13 sand-filled acres adjacent and upland of NYC's new Great Kills Harbor Park, will flood easily and will increase flooding to all neighbors. Pollutants from new streets, from autos and lawns will invade the new park and Great Kills Harbor. Construction of hundreds of new homes will halt the filtering, nutrient building capacity of these sandy harbor side acres which were cleared nearly 20 years ago for a failed housing project.

Every Islander has a stake in the future of Great Kills Harbor, as a marine environment teaching site, a park and fishing pier to improve our Island's quality of life, for boating, bird watching, fishing and waterside restaurants.

The health of Great Kills Harbor is vitally important to Staten Island's economy. Clean water in the Harbor is essential to a sustainable marine economy built upon improved fisheries and shell fisheries, marinas, boating, boat sales, boating and fishing supplies and clothing, and recreational fishing. Great Kills Harbor's sheltered waters nurture young fish and waterfowl, egrets and herons. Great Kills Harbor—our Island's only harbor, draws visitors to its restaurants, yacht clubs, boat launches and fishing spots; its less-polluted waters enrich clam beds and spur revival of the bay's oyster beds and fish nurseries in the shallows of Raritan Bay. The clam beds in the Raritan Bay are already the richest, most productive clam beds in N.Y. State. Polluting development on the sandy shoreline of Great Kills Harbor must not be allowed to destroy the rebuilding of fisheries and clam beds, the harbor and Raritan Bay.

Over the past four years, the groundwork to support the Port Authority's effort to buy these difficult-to-develop sites at a fair price has been put in place. The sites are listed in The NYS Open Space Plan, thanks to the Protectors' work. They are listed for purchase in the NY-NJ Harbor Estuary Plan. They were at the top of Governor Pataki's list of proposed purchases when he announced a $30 million acquisition plan for stewardship of NYC's harbors last year. Strong support from (former Councilman) County Clerk Stephen J. Fiala, Councilman Lanza and Congressman Vito Fossella, Jr., has led to current efforts to purchase these 13 acres now, before the Port Authority spends funds on other properties. But even now, as time is running out, the developers/land speculators seem reluctant to negotiate, determined to build what would be a flood disaster for new homeowners and neighboring communities of Great Kills, Port Regalle and Crescent Beach.

However, it's not over till it's over...there's still time to phone or write to Congressman Fossella, Senator Marchi and Councilman Lanza, asking them to persuade the developers to negotiate for a fair price. There's still time to e-mail The Advance (blaline@siadvance.com) and The Register (williamfranz@earthlink.net) and Protectors (SIProtectors@aol.com) to share your thoughts about stabilizing, sustaining and protecting the jewel of Great Kills Harbor.

have this year claimed ownership of the parkway. In a recent (8/5/02) letter to NY State DOT Commissioner Boardman, Assemblyman Robert Stranieri noted “For quite some time there has been considerable uncertainty over the title to land [the Willowbrook Parkway].” He referred to the parkway as “outmoded relics of the pave-over philosophy...neither environmentally sound nor economically feasible...” and he called on the State DOT to “end the decades long uncertainty” and that they “transfer the property to new York City for park purposes.” Assemblyman Stranieri also wrote the Attorney General (9/13/02) asking for an “official opinion” on the title question. Referring to both the Willowbrook and Richmond parkways, Stranieri said, “I join with all those here who wish to see these long-proposed, now unnecessary highways demapped...I will be happy to sponsor any legislation as might be required or appropriate to facilitate and accomplish the permanent protection of these tracts of land.”

The Coalition continues to meet with involved agencies and elected officials as appropriate.

WHAT'S HAPPENING WITH THE BLOOMINGDALE PARK PRESERVATION?

Greenbelt, Blue Heron Park, the Loretto State Conservation Area, Long Pond Park, Kingfisher Pond Park, Wood Duck Pond and other areas. All those years they ignored us and probably wished we would disappear, but instead, real estate continued to be pulled off the market and thrown into newly created parks or added to older parks.

How much would he listen to a Borough president who fabricates a story of Protectors past support of a mayoral candidate (Mark Green), when we have never, ever supported an electoral candidate for any office as an organization. By inventing this nonsense, did he really think he could turn Mayor Bloomberg against Protectors of Pine Oak Woods, a responsible and citywide recognized environmental organization. Was that the worst thing he could invent to besmirch our name? I guess that's the level of politicians' imaginations.

We now believe strongly that our new environmentally enlightened Mayor Bloomberg will free his Department of Parks and Recreation from the burdensome yoke of the Bloomingdale Park Recreational Proposal, left to them by the preceding mayor and borough president. When let free to use their expert science, natural history and engineering skills, they (Parks) will see fit to plan sensible, less expensive playing fields in the Charleston site or some other local suitable area. We expect they will not select any site that requires a several year Environmental Impact Statement process as did the Bloomingdale site. Parks can then abandon the Borough President's recreational plan so strongly criticized by the former Parks Commissioner and other knowledgeable Planners and by Protectors consultants and even our own membership wetland mapping team.

Shall we all wish our Mayor Bloomberg well in his resolving a thorny community problem that has such strong implications for a healthy environment for future residents and for distancing our New York City and Staten Island governments from any semblance of control by greedy real estate and construction interests? Let him know what you think and tell us also.
